New Castle High Seniors Are Graduated At Exercises In Cathedral Auditorium Tuesday Night

SPECIAL AWARDS MADE TO SENIORS

Four hundred fifty New Castle young men and women closed their scholastic careers Tuesday night, in the Cathedral. They were the June graduates of the New Castle senior high school assembled for their commencement service and for it the Cathedral was filled to the seating capacity with many standing.

The commencement was colorful and meaningful, a service that will undoubtedly stand out in the memories of the graduates with increased luster as the years go by. For them it was the end of an era and the beginning of another, the cross roads at which the fingerboards pointed the direction to higher learning on one highway and to the realities of the workaday world on the other.

Pa Newc Observes

Downtown streets were being freshened up a bit on Tuesday. Yellow lines were being painted on curbs at intersections denoting no parking. Pedestrians were carefully stepping on the wet paint not only marking up the sidewalks but damaging the appearance of their footwear.

An interesting observation was made by Pa Newc at the intersection of Oak and Ray streets Tuesday at noon. The congenial traffic guard at the corner was busily engaged in "autographing" the ribbon of one of the young sixth grade graduates of the Oak Street school.

A beautiful cabin cruiser boat, resting on a large semi-trailer on a Butler avenue parking lot was creating no little comment on Monday. The fine looking craft was labeled "Lazy Lady IV." The boat was the largest that Pa Newc has seen being hauled through the city.

On the way to New Castle Sunday morning, about 9:30 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barton of Castlewood and son, T. S. William Barton, of Fort Belvoir, saw a doe in the pasture field of William Houk's farm on the New Castle-Elwood road.

Residents of Almiria avenue are in a happier frame of mind. The city street scraper was working there Monday eliminating some of the bad holes that had developed in the street during the winter.

No parking signs have been painted on the telephone poles on County Line street from Pine to Ray street. With bus service being afforded the residents of the area. (Continued on Page Two)

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, June 4.—(INS)—Wage negotiations between John L. Lewis and southern coal producers broke off today when the miners refused to attend a bargaining session.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Soft coal wage negotiations headed for a complete breakdown today on the heels of an offer by southern operators to boost miners' wages approximately 10 cents an hour but eliminate the concept of portal-to-portal pay.
The United Mine Workers issued what was tantamount to a rejection of the proposal. The contract talks may suspend immediately if the respective positions of the negotiators remains unchanged at a bargaining session scheduled today.

First Parley Collapses
Negotiations between John L. Lewis and northern and western bituminous operators, who offered a wage increase of 15 cents an hour, collapsed last weekend. Lewis stuck to his demand for an hourly pay hike of 35 cents which the operators termed "unreasonable."
The UMW has served the same demand on southern producers. (Continued on Page Two)

Up-State New York Is Flood Threatened

Torrential Rains Are Reported; Hundreds Of Families Driven From Homes

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 4.—(INS)—New Floods were feared along the Mohawk and Black rivers as torrential rains flooded upstate New York areas. The Gould Paper company dam at McKeesport went out last night and water swirled toward Lyons Falls, 18 miles away. The territory between the Gould company dam and Lyons Falls is sparsely settled.
Hundreds of families were driven from their homes and flood conditions extended from the northern Adirondacks through the Mohawk river valley and Finger Lakes region of the Pennsylvania border.
Fair weather was predicted for today.

It was feared that Lyons Falls would feel the brunt of floods today. Some 300 families in Oneida were virtually isolated with boats moving many of the stricken to higher ground.
The second train derailed the mine near Ben Yamma, south of Halifa. Four cars and the engine were derailed.

British Drafting New Government Measure For India

Act Granting Dominion Status To Hindu And Moslem States Being Prepared

BELIEVE THREAT OF CIVIL WAR REMOVED

By CHARLES A. SMITH (L.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 4.—British officials today began drafting a new government of India act granting dominion status to Hindu and Moslem states which will become law before Parliament adjourns in August.
The bill will be presented to Parliament this month with assurance of a warm reception by both labor and conservative M. P.'s.
Show Gratification
Acceptance by the Indian leaders in New Delhi of the cabinet plan for transferring power this year—perhaps in two months—was received with immense gratification throughout Britain.
It apparently removed the threat of a disastrous civil war among the 400,000 Indians in which British troops would necessarily have become involved.
It also raised the strong possibility that India—the nucleus of the British empire—will remain within the framework of the British commonwealth.

To Decide Affiliations

The Indians will decide after the interim partitioning machinery has accomplished its purpose whether they want to remain permanently within the British commonwealth. Prime Minister Attlee also held out the possibility that the two projected states may later join as one dominion.
The British government is pledged to withdraw from India by June, 1948. However, the Earl of Listowel, secretary of state for India, said British troops will leave as soon as power is transferred—hence this year.

He added that they will remain only if the Indian government asks aid for defense purposes "against an external enemy."

Plan To Admit 400,000 Is Given Strong Support

Administration Support Is Thrown Behind Legislation To Admit War Refugees

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(INS)—Administration support today was thrown solidly behind emergency legislation to authorize admission of 400,000 European war refugees into the United States in the next four years.

John H. Hildring, assistant secretary of state for occupied areas, told congress that any charges that many of the displaced persons seeking haven in America are communists "fly in the face of basic fact."
Hildring, testifying before a house immigration subcommittee, vigorously championed the proposed legislation. He declared:
"The basic fact is that the displaced persons come from areas which have now come to be dominated by the Soviet Union."
They are unwilling and fear to return to those areas because they are now dominated by communistic governments. They are opposed to that type of economy and government."

RUTLAND, Vt., June 4.—(INS)—Police and National Guardsmen were called out today to help evacuate and rescue citizens trapped by the breaking of a dam at East Pittsford, five miles north of Rutland.

The agriculture secretary, who administers sugar rationing under the extension to Oct. 31 granted by Congress last March, said indications point to a price increase of two and one-half cents a pound when controls come off.

Truman Urges Early Action On Youth Training

Declares Universal Military Training Is Necessary In United States

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(INS)—President Truman declared today that universal military training is necessary to aid in protecting the United States against aggression and to "perpetuate the freedoms for which millions shed their blood."
The chief executive in a letter to congressional leaders urging speedy congressional action on the JMT program, also asserted that it would help to "master the advent of universal disarmament and peace through the United Nations."
Mr. Truman, in the letter to Senate President Vandenberg (R) Mich. and House Speaker Martin (R) Mass., transmitting the national security report of the presidential advisory commission in universal training, said:
"I urge that the Congress give early consideration to the subject of universal training."
Mr. Truman noted specifically that the commission found universal military training is:
"An essential element in an integrated program of national security designed to protect the United States against possible aggression, to perpetuate the freedoms for which millions shed their blood, and to hasten the advent of universal disarmament and peace through the United Nations."
Mr. Truman told Congress that the commission, under Chairman Karl T. Compton, atomic bomb scientist and president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, made an "exhaustive investigation" over a period of six months "and has submitted an excellent report."

French Creek Flood Subsiding

MEADVILLE, Pa., June 4.—(INS)—Flood waters of French and Cusawago creeks slowly began to recede today, after ten veterans' families were evacuated from Meadville's Fifth ward as a precautionary measure.
The ten families were moved into a schoolhouse last night as the waters of Cusawago creek, backed up by rampaging French creek following torrential rains Monday night, began to rise at the rate of three inches an hour.
However, the waters failed to reach the evacuated homes and the families were expected to return today.
As the flood waters ebbed in Meadville and in other northwest Pennsylvania towns, residents began to clean up the debris left by the second inundation in less than two months.
Flash floods Easter Sunday caused widespread damage in the same area affected by floods this week.

Industry Girds For Feared Coal Strike On June 30

Reserve Coal Stocks Are Being Built Up In Face Of New Strike Threat

By NORMAN AGATHON (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, June 4.—(INS)—Big industry girded itself today for a possible soft coal strike June 30 when federally operated mines are returned to their owners.

While John L. Lewis and the northern coal operators jockeyed for position in contract negotiations, the steel industry, fabricators, railroads and steel dependent firms raced against time to build up their coal reserves in anticipation of the miners' traditional policy of "no contract, no work."

A spokesman for the coal operators said the sudden breakdown in negotiations in Washington could mean but one thing—that Lewis will not waive his five major demands and, failing to gain them, he will call out his 400,000 diggers.

At the same time, coal production was at peak levels and every available coal car, river barge and truck was being pressed into service to build up the stockpiles.

Coal reserves at industrial plants, some covering many acres, were rapidly growing as steel men sought to forestall possible shutdowns within their own industry in event the strike materializes.

Pilots Return From Cross Country Hops

Merlin Persing and Harry Aven, both of New Castle, have completed their cross country flights, it was reported by Wilson Aviation at the New Castle Airport today.

The two pilots flew from New Castle to Erie, Cleveland and Youngstown and return.

Harry Weatherby of this city has received a private pilot's license, having passed the required examinations.

The Republic Sea Bee stationed at the airport, flew to Conneaut Lake and return last evening. At present, there are no flood lights at the airport for night landing, but lanterns are used to guide the planes that come in at night. The runways are lined with the lanterns and in many cases, automobile headlights are used to direct the pilots to the port. Most of the planes are equipped with landing lights which aid them in finding the flying strip.

URGE PRESIDENT TO DELAY TAX BILL VETO

The President was likely to send the bill back to Congress with a veto message a day or two after it was received at the White House. Many party leaders outside of Washington, it was reported, have urged the President to approve the bill because tax cuts are bound to please voters.

The July 1 tax reductions would save taxpayers from 30 percent in the lowest bracket to 10 percent in the highest. Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, estimated that 26,191,000 persons would get the 30 percent cut, 6,980,000 a cut of from 20 to 25 percent and 16,495,100 a straight 20 percent reduction.

Both Neshannock creek and the Shenango river are at unseasonably high stages at the present moment. The heavy rains of the past days have brought the river stages up.

Pa Newc has been informed that the new street sign erected at the corner of Sheridan and Highland avenues is not the work of residents of the street but has been placed there by the city.

Residents of the vicinity of Blaine street and Wallace avenue, are on the lookout for some persons who have several times of late left garbage in that vicinity. Apparently someone travelling along the streets has deposited the garbage enroute.

James E. Gorman, retired bus operator, who resides on East Washington street, felt somewhat like "B.O. It was surprising news to Mr. Gorman, who is a grandfather. Finally, both he and the hospital found out that the latter had the wrong number.

Surface treatment work crews of the State Highway Department will be working in the East New Castle section of the county today working out toward Volant. Eighth Graders At Glenmore School Have Commencement

Parents And Friends Of Students Assemble In School To Witness Graduating Exercises

Before an audience of 125, the Glenmore eighth grade class paid tribute in playlet form and song to Glenmore school, in graduating exercises for the class on Tuesday evening. The night is long to be remembered, as the P.T.A. of the school sees to it that the annual affair is both a solemn and festive occasion.

The class was led by the teacher, Harbert Gibson with prophecy of the future very cleverly in playlet form. Betty Richardson and Harold Reynolds are happily married and live on a desolate ranch out west. The couple welcomes the breakdown of a cross country bus in front of their property and to their amazement they discover the passengers are their old schoolmates from Glenmore.

Fred Gere and Lynus Gibson, chosen as grumblers, were able to unload without being reprimanded for their statements.

Class Play

The class play under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Hennon was a performance of which the school well be proud. Elsie Hogan and Paul Hill played the part of the well-to-do married couple. A near riot results when a letter arrives from a friend, saying his nephew Lowrie Campbell will visit them and wants them to treat him as trump while they interpret it as "tramp" and treat him as such upon his arrival.

A niece of Mr. Hill's, Marjorie McKinnon tells the nephew that she doesn't think he is a tramp and that a joke is being played on him. The reaction of the joke works both ways. Harlow arrives and tells them of the mistake.

Mrs. Betty White pleased the evening audience with piano music during the program. The class filled various items to the 1948 class. From a tree cleverly decorated in the class colors, pink and white. The donors, Betty Richardson and Jack Tiech plucked gifts that would help the class on the road to success. William Parker presented the class colors to Carol Jenkins, seventh grade president.

Presenters Pins

Mrs. Carl Hoch of the P.T.A. presented a pin to each of the graduates and with the singing of the class song the program came to a close. The graduates, their families and friends moved to the basement, where refreshments were served. The eighth graders were seated at a table beautifully decorated in pink and white and centered with a large cake, decorated to read "Congratulations to the class of 1947. The graduates and teachers were seated at the table with the principal, Thomas Smathers and Mrs. Smathers, special guests.

The graduating class consists of: William Parker, Marjorie McKinnon, Jack Tiech, Fred Gere, Arthur Hogan, Kenneth Bell, Lowrey Campbell, Harold Reynolds, Betty Richardson, Lynus Gibson, Jean Hogan and Paul Hill.

Helping to make the program a success were N. J. McCluskey, Mrs. Lottie Maitland, Carol Rabberman, Mr. Smathers, Mrs. N. J. McCluskey, Mrs. Lee Whiting and the parent members of the P.T.A.

In addition the teachers voted to send a representative from the city and the county to remain in Harrisburg while the sessions of the General Assembly continues. In the county L. Butler Hennon was appointed. At noon the New Castle delegate had not been appointed.

Administration Approval

In discussing the Honsberger-Berger bill which is said to have the approval of Governor James H. Duff, the speakers at both meetings pointed out that the initial salary proposal is not sufficient to attract able youth to teaching now, nor is it as high as new graduates of teachers colleges are now commanding. It does not provide a living wage for all teachers. The increase for experienced teachers is pitifully low.

The Honsberger-Berger bill, known as house bill 417, was reported out of committee and placed on the legislative calendar. Several days ago it was sent back to committee but on Tuesday it was again restored to the calendar with the

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Clayton Is Making Gallant Fight

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Under-secretary of State Will Clayton is a tall, soft-spoken Texan who believes deeply in free enterprise and free trade. As a free trader, starting from scratch, Will Clayton has built one of the impressive private fortunes of his generation.

Now he is serving the government as conscientiously as he once served his own private interest. His job is not an easy one. He is trying to persuade the other countries of the world that it is possible to revive the free-trade pattern.

The State Department has a plan for an international trade organization. But before the other nations will accept that plan they want us to show our good faith by reducing tariffs and indicating in other ways that we intend to accept imports from abroad.

Promotes World Trade Idea
In April Clayton went to Geneva, Switzerland, to promote the world trade idea at an international conference. In the middle of that conference Congress threatened to pull the rug out from under the American proposals at Geneva. Clayton flew back to Washington to argue his case, not with skeptical foreigners, but with doubting and resentful members of Congress.

This is how the House put the world trade plan in jeopardy. The House passed a bill which would make it possible under certain circumstances to raise by 50 per cent the tariff on wool coming into the United States. We were telling anybody who cared to listen that, instead of lowering tariffs, we proposed to raise them.

The House bill represented the pressure of wool growers in this country to get a guaranteed market. They produce only a small fraction of the wool we use, and they produce it at a high cost and at a small margin of profit to themselves, if any. Yet they are distributed in states with comparatively scant population and so they can make their political weight felt.

Complicated Story
The wool story is a long and complicated one. During the war our government bought wool at a support price, and the government now holds 500,000,000 pounds which cannot be sold under present law. The price has dropped to about half that of the wartime support price.

The Senate adopted a wool bill that did not contain the provision (Continued on Page Seven)

WHO SUGGESTS NEXT DATE
Question: I have been going with a boy for about two months. I am not sure whether he or I should suggest the next date.

Answer: Man should do the obvious pursuing. Let the boy suggest your next date. Then you will be sure that interest in you rather than mere politeness brought you together.

Question: Is it absolutely essential that I invite my fiancé's father and stepmother to our wedding. They have never called on me nor my parents and have ignored every invitation we have extended to them. His brother who has been very friendly will be best man.

Answer: Even though they have ignored you, send them an invitation to your wedding. Should they ignore that you will be justified in hereafter ignoring them.

Question: Two of my office friends are to be married. While I am not intimately associated socially with either the bride or the groom, I am not going to the wedding, may I correctly send them an individual gift instead of contributing to the usual office gift. Also should I write a note of felicitation to send along with my gift?

Answer: Since you know them so well, I think it would be more thoughtful for you to send the bride a gift "on your own." Merely inclose your card with "best wishes" written in ink above your name. If you have no visiting cards, a plain white card will do. No letter is necessary.

Question: I am to be maid-of-honor for my best friend. Do you think she will expect me to give her a shower?

Answer: I think she will. It is customary for the maid-of-honor (if she is not a relative) to give a shower for the bride.

CANNED PEAS
It is pretty hard to eat peas with a knife. Perhaps that is not the best way to eat them. Anyway, they provide a lot of good things for food.

They are heavy on protein; one of our best sources of vegetable protein. They are strong on iron too. They supply a generous amount of starch. Last, but not least they are rich in vitamins.

Some cooks put soda in peas to keep them green. It is not a good idea. It may make them look better but it spoils them for nourishment.

Pretty soon peas will be showing up in the garden. Then about the fourth of July—Yum-Yum—fresh peas.

VALUE OF COLLEGE EDUCATION

There are many bright boys and girls about to graduate from high school, who won't go to college. Many of them won't go for want of funds. Some of them won't go for want of ambition in themselves and their parents.

Some parents who read this column may have gained a higher education, even though they grew up on a remote farm or in a village; and their parents may not have had much money. If such was your experience, you recall that some of your high school pals made as good school records as you did, or even better, yet never went on to college.

The GI Bill
Young men and women who served in the armed forces are going to college now, who would have been denied this privilege but for the GI Bill of Rights. Must we have another war in order to provide such opportunities?

With rising costs at college and the ease of getting jobs which pay well, the proportion of promising youths who should go to college next fall but won't, will be unusually high, no doubt, and especially among farm youths. For some time to come farm prices may be comparatively high. Besides, it may not readily occur to the farm youth and his parents that a higher education would be valuable to him should he return to the farm.

Many Bright Youths
Think of the thousands of bright youths on the farm whose parents easily could finance them at college, if only these parents had vision and ambition. The Tennessee mother who wrote the following does have vision and ambition.

"My seventeen-year-old son is graduating from high school. He wants to go to college. He and I live with my mother on a farm. She wants him to take over her farm but that does not appeal to him. If he goes to college it will be necessary for him to work. I can not pay all his expenses; however, I can help him some.

Good Scholastic Record
"His scholastic record has been very good in algebra, geometry, chemistry and physics but ordinary in English and agriculture. He thinks he is especially interested in electrical engineering. Do you think he should attend college? If so, what course of study should he follow?"

I wrote this mother I hoped she would be willing to make sacrifices to help that lad go on to college, provided he proved he also could help himself; that with his good record in mathematics, physics and chemistry, he seems to have a good preparation for entering an engineering college; that she might be able to gain considerable information about such schools through the (Continued on Page Seven)

Oh the sun is so nice and warm . . . it's a pleasure to be around on such days as we had yesterday . . . and the farmers are wanting many more such days but after so much rain it is difficult to become accustomed to the heat of sun . . . And it (the sun) attracts people outdoors and the lawn and garden work really gets a good going over . . . then the people get a good going over the next day when the back begins to ache. Oh the good old summer time.

Another large group of graduates took off their robes last evening after hearing very worthwhile advice and today are ready to step out into the big, wide, old world and take up their station in life . . . some will continue to entertain their mind in a higher school of education like a college or university . . . many more will take to the old and tried school of hard knocks. A very few who graduated last evening will not be successful in their chosen profession.

Who those few will be can not be definitely stated . . . the boy or girl voted most likely to succeed might not be the one that goes the furthest . . . the boy who slid along in school work might end up being the most prominent one in his chosen work.

So many things happen during a life time . . . especially from high school finish to the age of 30 that can change a person's life. Environment, temptations . . . A person should live or attempt to live the best life that he knows how . . . everyone surely knows right from wrong . . . and if the Golden Rule would be practiced by every one . . . there would be no need of the strife that we poor mortals bring upon ourselves.

Think now . . . think clearly about the grief that you bring upon yourself . . . you become dissatisfied . . . why? Oh there are hundreds of reasons why you might become dissatisfied. Money is the greatest root of dissatisfaction. The grass always looks greener on the other side of the fence . . . Romance . . . there's another root . . . Excitement . . . oh the number is almost unlimited.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Does the headwaiter let down the plush rope for you, no matter how many others are waiting?

If not, you don't wear the right clothes.

At least that is what a men's clothier told me today in an advertisement.

The picture was the entrance to a swanky night club. There was a waiting line. Several of the would-be guests looked mad, but one couple walked right through the line, their heads high, while the headwaiter, with a deep bow, let down the plush rope for them.

And here is the text: "He must be somebody important," mutters the man in the background. "Otherwise, why would they let him in and make us wait?"

"The truth is that, to the headwaiter's appraising eye, he only looks like somebody important. When you're in the spotlight—when first impressions are critically important—the clothes you wear can make a lot of difference."

Tsk, tsk, I said to myself. There must be something wrong about this ad.

A couple of evenings ago my wife and I went to the Stork Club. My wife wore a lovely new dress and I had on my very best suit—a suit that had that "emotional maturity" about which I told you a couple of weeks ago.

The headwaiter looked at us, but the plush rope stayed up. We had to wait our turn with the rest of the crowd.

Then in came Mark Hellinger, the Hollywood writer and producer. He wore a black shirt with a yellow necktie, an old gray suit that apparently hadn't been pressed for weeks and his shoes could well have stood a shiner.

Pushing right through the crowd and, before the obsequious headwaiter even had a chance to let down the rope, Hellinger climbed over it and disappeared in the Club Room, that holy of holies in which celebrities and would-be celebrities worship at the shrine of Sherman Billingsley.

Don't worry if the headwaiter at the Stork Club or the Twenty-One, or at any of the other snobberies that are now the fad all over the country, doesn't let down the plush rope for you right away.

It doesn't prove a thing. Neither does your suit.

There are only two reasons why headwaiters give you preference over others.

One is if you can give their joints a lot of free publicity or if your presence brings publicity to them.

The other is a ten-dollar bill. Of course if you want to buy that suit that makes you look like "somebody important" it's all right with me.

But I guarantee you that an old suit and a ten dollar bill will get you in much more quickly.

And do you know how I get out of giving those fellows my hard-earned money? I don't go there any more.

The World and the Mud Puddles

DEMOCRACY

Ever since the late Woodrow Wilson expressed a desire to "Make the World Safe for Democracy" this nation has been trying to impress upon all members of the United Nations our conception of Democracy.

These other nations of the world have been accustomed to absolute autocracies, with the exception of Great Britain. There is not a European nation that has anything like a conception of democracy as the American people possess. There are Parliaments where they have an alleged law-making bodies, owing their existence and their personnel to the choice of the dictator, whether he be king or just plain boss.

Even Mexico, our immediate neighbor and a so-called Republic, is governed in the same way. Yes, the President is elected by the people, but how are these elections conducted? I will venture to say that there is not five percent of independent, intelligent votes cast in (Continued on Page Seven)

THE HUMBLING GAME

That "golf's a humbling game" was said by some old Scot, long ages dead. The proudest man of yesterday—Tomorrow at his worst may play. But nothing spoils a golfer's life Lake being beaten by his wife.

When lovely woman comes to skill And learns the way to swat the pill, Although devoted unto him, She hopes her husband soon to trim;

And he, though fond and proud of her, Dreads the dark day that may occur.

Proud man who was, but is no more, Downcast as gonads off before, Admiring in a manner grim, The little wife has beaten him; Hearing his fellows' laughter rude, Completely humbled and subdued! (Copyright, 1947, Edgar A. Guest)

Inside Washington

Gael Sullivan Center Of Demo Family Fight
Russ Claim "Miracle" Cures Through Surgery
Overcome Opposition To Four Treaties

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON, June 4.—All is not happiness, backslapping and laughter at the Democratic national committee. A storm is brewing around young, impetuous Gael Sullivan, the executive director.

Gael, breathing youthful enthusiasm, well stocked with partisan zeal, has been pretty much in charge since Postmaster General Bob Hannegan, the national chairman, became ill. Hannegan has been recuperating many weeks, and it still is problematical whether he will return to the chairmanship.

Meanwhile, Gael has received several spankings from President Truman—the most notable of which was over the letter he wrote Republicans in Congress, asking them, "as a patriotic duty," to support the Truman Doctrine.

This gave the GOP—going down the line on bipartisan foreign policy—an excellent chance to raise a righteous cyclone.

By the time Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Arthur Vandenberg (R), Mich., and other boys got through, the Democrats had taken a public spanking. The president did not like it, out he was kind to Gael, and said, in effect, "go and sin no more."

Sullivan's speeches now are pretty general. They blame the GOP for everything except the Biblical flood, but stick to generalities.

It is likely that, if Hannegan's retirement is permanent, the Democrats will at least supply Gael with an elder statesman to advise him. He probably will keep the title. Anyhow, it is a smart bet.

THE RUSSIANS ARE CLAIMING "miraculous" cures through a new type of neurosurgery used on Soviet Army soldiers badly wounded in World War II.

How these cures are effected is described in the Russian government's main propaganda publication in the United States—the Soviet Embassy Bulletin, published in Washington.

One patient, a Capt. Vladimir Zakharov, who suffered a severe head wound from shrapnel in the storming of Koenigsberg, was put back in good health, the Bulletin said, through neurosurgery. "A shell splinter pierced his skull," the Bulletin reports, "driving bits of his cap into the brain. Photographs taken two years ago show a rather grisly bulge the size of an egg at the back of his head, where the brain actually protruded through the skull."

"A delicate operation was performed by Dr. Aregnazen Melkumova, an Armenian surgeon who designed her own method for operations of this kind. Now you can scarcely feel the scar at the back of the patient's head."

ONE THING HELPED SAVE the Italian and Balkan peace treaties from real trouble in the Senate foreign relations committee: The fact that Chairman Arthur Vandenberg (R), Michigan, and Senator Tom Connally (D), Texas, ranking minority member, had a hand in treaty drafting.

The unanimous vote, by which the 13 committee members recommended ratification of the four treaties, demonstrated bipartisan cooperation operating under stress.

Both Vandenberg and Connally attended the Paris peace conference and the preliminaries thereto which led to the four treaty drafts. As advisers to the then Secretary of State James Byrnes, they were in on the developments at each stage.

Opposition from Italian-American groups, who charged during public hearings that the treaty was unjust and unfair, began to swing committee sentiment toward a policy of delay. But both Vandenberg and Connally had staunchly supported the State department's argument that the treaties were the best which could be had under the circumstances. Their colleagues finally voted unanimously for ratification.

Diplomatic observers believe that had the two senators not gone to Paris, and come back sharing Byrnes' beliefs, the Italian treaty, at least, would not have had anything like unanimous committee backing. It might easily have been rejected or postponed.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

European and North African capitals speculated with avid interest today on what was in the back of caged old Abd-El-Krim's mind when he broke off a scheduled visit to the French Riviera and established residence in Egypt instead, declaring himself a "Moslem among Moslems."

There is a fascinating enigma in the one-time Riff tribesman's unexpected action, and the ultimate explanation lies somewhere in the far distant future.

In chronology, Abd-El-Krim left Reunion Island some weeks ago. He took with him some of his wives, variously stated at from two to seven, at least 20 retainers, his private herd of animals and probably a great deal of money as well as gold and silver plate.

He had asked the French government to grant him sanctuary, claiming that advancing age and failing health made Reunion Island, with its cyclones and miasmic vegetation no longer suitable.

Permission was given, and Krim's agents made a deal for a 45-room villa at Villeneuve-Loubet on the Riviera.

But when the Riff warrior's ship touched at Port Said at the northern end of the Suez Canal, Krim got off with his whole retinue. First it was said he had gone ashore at the invitation of King Farouk of Egypt. Then it was reported he merely had "jumped ship." And now it is said that the leaders of a Tunisian Nationalist organization engineered the whole affair.

There are number of intriguing factors in connection with the whole latest odyssey of Abd-El-Krim.

First, the estate chosen by Krim for his residence in France was "just around the corner" from the home of former French Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, who is still imprisoned on an island off the north coast of France.

Second, it was Petain whose forces finally defeated Krim in the Moroccan rebellion after the swarthy leader's tribesmen had cut up a poorly equipped Spanish army of 20 thousand men and then turned their murderous curved swords against the French.

Third, news of Krim's release from Reunion Island was hardly dry on the pages of the French press when Petain's attorneys submitted a circular plea to prominent persons in many walks of life pleading for his liberation on humanitarian grounds.

The crossing of paths between Petain and Abd-El-Krim doubtless is pure coincidence, and Petain was hardly in a position or of a mind to have any connection with his former bitter enemy's sudden discharge from island exile.

But even granting this coincidence, Abd-El-Krim's plans for the future would seem to demand some explanation. Tunisia, with many of France's other far-flung colonies, is in foment and unrest. The once-powerful Riff warrior might be an equally powerful tool—in name at least—in the hands of Tunisian Nationalists.

Isn't there a song that goes: "Old Soldiers Never Die?"

Residents At County Home Enjoy Weekly Spiritual Ministry

Efforts Being Made To Bring More Cheer To Residents Of Home By Future Programs

The 140 residents of the Lawrence County Home on the New Castle-Ellwood City road, for the past seven years, have enjoyed uninterrupted spiritual ministrations of all the pastors of the Protestant faith through the auspices of the New Castle Ministerial association.

More efficient service has been given through the assistance of the paid chaplain, Rev. P. P. Sulmonetti, who has been appointed by the association to oversee the spiritual ministrations at the home. A weekly service is held, in which Bible reading is conducted, preaching is done and gospel is presented both vocally and instrumentally. The chaplain is assisted by members of his family, known as the "Sulmonetti Evangelistic party".

The services are held weekly on Tuesday evenings in the spacious home chapel with other services being conducted by several other church groups on Sundays and other days.

The county commissioners and the present home superintendent and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cutler, are cooperating to the fullest extent in the religious ministry of the home. Mr. Cutler is beginning a movement, which will involve the installation of a public address system, which will carry the program throughout the home.

The county home committee headed by Rev. J. Calvin Rose and the chaplain subcommittee consisting of Mrs. P. P. Sulmonetti, Mrs. Joel McKee, Mrs. Jesse N. Kerr, Mrs. W. Hanna, Mrs. David Nesbitt and Mrs. Joseph MacKenzie are assisting in the work being done.

The subcommittee will carry on the services during June and part of July, while the chaplain is vacationing. The following program is to be carried out: Tuesday, June 10, Mrs. J. MacKenzie and young people, Primitive Methodist church; June 17, Mrs. David Nesbitt; June 24, Mrs. J. N. Kerr; July 1, Mrs. W. Hanna, and July 8, Mrs. Joel McKee. Music will be supplied from the churches represented.

A regular monthly entertainment program is planned for the home beginning in September. Talent from all city churches will be provided and churches are urged to offer musical numbers by calling the chaplain at 4347-R or the treasurer, Mrs. McKee, 4551.

Firemen were called to the scene by an alarm from Box 23, but their services were not required.

At 11:10 p. m., Tuesday, B truck was called to Taylor street, where an old stove broom was being burned. No action was taken.

Rheumatic Fever, Heart Disease Battle Pushed

HARRISBURG, June 4.—The Pennsylvania department of health is pushing its fight on rheumatic fever and heart disease, commonest cause of death and disability in children.

An estimate of the number of cases in Pennsylvania run as 45,000. Dr. E. E. Shifferstine, chief of rheumatic heart clinics for the department, said today that additional clinics will be established soon in counties where medical societies have approved the program.

Seven clinics already are in operation with 1,254 suspected rheumatic heart disease cases registered. Established during the past two years by the department of health, these clinics are conducted in approved general hospitals. They are located in the cities of Altoona, Erie, Williamsport, Harrisburg, Allentown, Sayre and Wilkes-Barre. The clinic is held at least once a month—more often if the need indicates. A written report of the recommended treatment is furnished for guidance of the patient's physician.

A primary requisite for the success of the program is determination of the number and location of children suffering from the disease," Dr. Shifferstine said. "This will require the full cooperation of physicians, public health nurses, social and welfare agencies and the schools."

Physical examination of Pennsylvania's school age children since enactment of the school health law in 1945 have turned up a surprisingly large number of children with a history of rheumatic fever, according to Dr. Shifferstine. The cases will be reported to the rheumatic heart clinic nearest the child's home for registration, and for confirmatory diagnosis, if such service is requested by the family physician.

Registration is regarded as essential to determine with accuracy the real number of victims, a figure not presently available, and as a guide to the type of care required. A specialist is in charge of the clinic. Also in attendance is a public health nurse, and a medical secretary for taking clinical notes and setting up records.

Mexico. The rest of the electorate vote just as they are told by those sitting in high places and God help any opposition. The agents of the dictators in Mexico are present at every voting booth in the nation; they are determined seeing that every vote is a "right" vote. And this is absolutely true in every nation outside of the United States. Those who even have knowledge sufficient to determine how they should vote are not permitted to vote except in one way and that is the way of the dictators. It was ridiculous to expect Russia to allow the Polish people to exercise a free voting privilege. And it would be just as ridiculous to expect the Russians to allow Romania, Yugoslavia, Austria or Hungary or any of the European States who are under their iron fist to vote the way they would like to vote.

Know Nothing of Life in U. S. The European, the Central American and the South American peoples know nothing about life in the United States. The dictators of these peoples are very solicitous about any literature or any broadcasts by the radio emanating from the United States. Russia censors everything absolutely and nothing is passed out to the people except what Mr. Stalin or Mr. Molotov and the rest of the gang see fit to allow to pass the censorship.

Educated peoples of other countries of the world coming to the United States and traveling through it are amazed at what they see. Prior to their coming to this country, they had read about the individual freedom of the American; of the fact that most Americans owned automobiles, as well as their own homes, but they did not believe it until they saw it.

Here in the United States we do not make the best of our freedom to vote as we think we ought to. There are too many men and women in this country too easily swayed by what somebody else thinks. They don't do enough thinking of their own. It got to be so serious that every idea advanced by F. D. R. was the right idea. F. D. R. at the time of his death was looked upon as being absolutely right in every way and no dictator anywhere in the world was so powerful. The people of this nation must have a better idea of democracy than they possess today. With the experiences of the last fourteen years, we can't say a whole lot about the ignorant peoples of the rest of the world.

Jean Baptiste Lully (1633-87) was a celebrated composer and founder of the Frank opera.

for a 50 per cent boost in tariff. There is a good chance that the Senate point of view will prevail and that the 50 per cent provision in the House bill will be knocked out. Even Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, who comes from one of the wool states, has said he is for compromise since he is convinced the President would veto the House bill and he wants help for wool growers in the form of a domestic subsidy.

When Clayton first returned from Geneva he went down under an attack of flu. Now, after administration of large doses of penicillin, he is well enough to go up to Capitol Hill to battle for his goal.

Much Harm Done Much harm has already been done by the action of the House. It was an indication to the delegates at Geneva of an attitude exactly the opposite of that which Clayton was urging. Perhaps if the final outcome is favorable, the damage can be repaired.

But one must say frankly that this is a forlorn hope. The pressures that developed to protect the wool farmers will certainly be exerted again when farmers in other fields begin to find the going rough. Unless there is powerful and continued resistance, the shadow of the wool bill may prove to be the shadow of things to come. There is another pattern. It is the pattern of subsidies, of dumping on the world market, of imperialism.

Subsidy Plan If the plans for a world trade organization fail, that is the way it will go. The producer will be given a domestic subsidy. Under the subsidy the government is likely to acquire surplus stocks. Then comes the pressure to unload these stocks. They cannot be disposed of at home without upsetting the support price. So they are dumped onto the world market.

This means a kind of competition that is in actuality economic warfare. We shall be competing on this level with Argentina and the Soviet Union, which have put their trade under complete state control. The pressure to do the same thing in this country, in order to hold our own in that warfare, will be very great. So the hope of free enterprise goes glimmering. The proposed hike in the wool tariff must be blocked. Similar pressures must be resisted. Clayton has fought a gallant fight and he deserves better of Congress. I wish I knew how to prevail on men and women with considerable money, to leave a pile of it for scholarships for bright deserving youths. It would be wonderful if some wealthy person were to establish a national fund for this purpose, to which many others would add liberally from time to time. A foundation of half a billion dollars for such purpose would do a lot to conserve and develop the talents of many deserving youths and to lift the educational level of our Nation.

Record Poppy Day Sale Is Recorded

Neshannock Post Sales Preceding Memorial Day Were Largest On Record, Chairman Hunt Says

One out of every three persons in New Castle wore a Buddy Poppy on Poppy Day, May 24, sold by Neshannock Post 3155. V. F. W. Chairman George E. Hunt reported today.

"We often hear it said that once the war is over people forget the sacrifices of the boys who made victory possible. This may hold true in some cities, but not in New Castle and Lawrence county, as was proven by the response of the citizens here."

There were 18,100 poppies sold by the post, and contributions totalled $1,790, scores of girls from the schools working with members of the post and auxiliary to place a poppy in every available button-hole.

Receipts From Sales

The receipts from the sale were distributed as follows: to the disabled veterans who made the poppies, $400; C. F. W. National Home for Widows and Orphans, $200; Department of Pennsylvania V. F. W. service fund, $370; sales expense, $78; Neshannock Post and auxiliary welfare funds to be used for needy veterans and their families, $742.

The winners in total sales were: Margie Panella, Betty Hill, Doris Klingensmith, Susie Kennedy, Betty Flickinger, Bernice Walzer, Laura Welsh, Alice Gavroy, Tessie Anderson, Betty Beck and Betty Reagan.

James A. Bell of Neshannock Post had the highest volume of adult sales, $105.33, and Mrs. Frank Miller of the auxiliary, $91.57.

House Approves Salary Boost For Legislators

HARRISBURG, June 4.—(INS)—The House today approved legislation having the effect of raising biennial salaries of legislators to $5,400.

By a vote of 202-1, the lower chamber approved a bill which would add $100 a month "expense money" to regular $3,600 biennial salaries. Rep. Francis Worley (R) Adams was the holdout against unanimous adoption.

HUNT WORKINGMAN'S REMAINS JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 4.—(INS)—Power shovels dug into the cinders of a slag dump at the Johnstown plant of the Bethlehem Steel Co. today, hoping to find the remains of John Smalak, Jr., 27, who broke through the crust and plunged to his death in an inferno of flames and molten metal.

Smalak, a yard worker, was walking across the slag dump last night when suddenly there was a flash of flame and he was gone.

Korea Commission Fails To Agree On Conference Issues

SEOUL, June 4.—(INS)—The Russo-American commission on Korea failed once more today to settle differences relating to the consultation of political parties in the formation of the proposed Korean national provisional government.

The issue remained deadlocked after the longest meeting to date of the joint commission in Seoul. An official bulletin stated the consultation matter was again referred to subcommittee number one for the drafting of what the announcement described as "a document reconciling the principles expressed in the discussion."

The brief communique also hinted at disagreement over the political makeup of the projected Korean coalition regime which is intended to administer civilian affairs of both the northern Soviet and southern American occupation zones.

The bulletin said simply that "a second subject of discussion concerned two questions on the political platform which are not yet fully agreed upon."

Next meeting of the full commission was set for Friday.

MAYOR HAGUE TO RETIRE JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 4.—(INS)—Mayor Frank Hague, New Jersey's powerful Democratic leader, announced today that he is retiring from his Jersey City office June 17.

Hague, 71, said his advanced age was the reason behind his stepping out.

Hague has been mayor of Jersey City for the past 34 years.

He reported that he will turn control of his office over to his nephew, Frank Eggers, a city commissioner.

Highway Safety Council Head Is Speaker Here

Automobile dealers of Lawrence County added their collective strength to the solution of the problem of highway safety Monday night. The dealers met in The Castleton hotel and listened to Captain Westwick, head of the Highway Safety Council of the Pennsylvania Automotive Association and Sergeant Hardy of the State Police.

Captain Westwick high-lighted the heavy casualty list on the highways in the past year over the nation. Pennsylvania was shown to be in a favorable position, comparatively, showing less than 8 percent of the accidents due to faulty automotive equipment. Illinois had twice that number.

Vitality Important

It is vitally important that drivers see that their vehicles are in proper working condition and it is also important that the dealers do an honest job in their field, Captain Westwick said.

Too slight inspection of cars is an unnecessary risk, Captain Westwick said, and he urged the dealers to insist upon proper inspection and necessary repairs. This applies to brakes, steering, clear vision glass, exhaust mufflers, tires and lights. The observance of traffic laws was stressed but again and again Captain Westwick and Sergeant Hardy returned to the importance of seeing that cars are in proper working order. The dealers pledged themselves to the Highway Safety program and promised to leave nothing undone to promote safety in this state.

Many Windows Were Shattered By Recent Blast

Local Window Glass Firms Have Been Kept Busy Repairing Damage Caused By Explosion

Local window glass firms have been kept extremely busy putting glass in local business establishments and in private homes, which were shattered by the recent blast at the plant of the American Cyanamid and Chemical company. A survey today showed that approximately 15 large plate glass windows were broken out, or cracked so badly that they had to be replaced, while hundreds of smaller windows were broken in homes.

In addition to these, many have not been reported, and probably will not be replaced immediately due to the fact that the owners did not carry insurance against such a contingency, and they are just leaving the cracked glass in place.

The largest window was that in the New Penn hotel, which was 190 by 78 inches. This was protected by insurance, and will be replaced by smaller panes, the owner stated, to guard against possible future damage.

Local Builders Look For Home Building Increase

With the abolition of federal housing permits for prospective home builders, increase of bathroom fixture installation and the expansion of square footage limitations, builders of the city today predicted a substantial climb in the construction of new homes in this locality.

Some Controls Remain

Some controls still remain in effect: construction limitation order VHP-1, covering the building of non-housing projects and governing the ceiling placed on such structures; the veterans' preference clause and the rent ceilings on new construction.

It is generally agreed that the remaining controls are for the good of all concerned, however, J. Clyde Gillfillan, who is engaged in the erection of many new homes in the county, brought out one point concerning the veterans' preference regulation that merits thought.

Gets First Choice

Under the existing rule, a person building a new home not intended for his own occupancy must give the veteran first choice in renting or buying the property. Naturally this regulation was enacted to provide housing for the returned serviceman and his family and rightly so. However, there are many occasions when non-veterans, possessing the necessary money to purchase homes, must forego their purchase in favor of the veteran who does not have the necessary funds or desire such housing. It was pointed out that if this ruling would be abolished such a stalemate would be avoided and if such new housing were offered on a non-preference scale the veteran would profit just as much by acquiring evacuated homes more within their income by the purchase of new homes by other persons.

It is believed that the gradual easing of restrictions is being well-paced with the developments of the postwar era of the nation as a whole, and that the general housing picture is much brighter.

If employment continues at a high level much long-awaited home construction, unfettered of federal controls, will move ahead at a brisk pace locally.

Break Window In Croton Store; Make Escape

Man who broke a pane of glass in the door of the Vendog Store at Croton avenue and Vine street at 2:34 a. m. today escaped while a cruiser car was rushing to the scene.

J. E. Dwyer, a nearby resident heard the crash. He rushed to the store. J. N. Smith, the proprietor yelled from his apartment that he would shoot but the man replied: "No, you don't shoot," and made a gesture as though reaching for a revolver in a rear pocket.

Policemen Hillers and Reese discovered early this morning that the glass in the door of Ramsey Sons store, Croton avenue, also had been broken.

Hungarian Minister In U. S. Refuses To Recognize Regime

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(INS)—Aldar Szegedy-Maszk, Hungarian minister to Washington, formally announced today he will refuse to recognize the new pro-Communist government in Budapest or any of its instructions.

He said further he will not resign his post as minister because that in itself would constitute a degree of recognition.

Eight members of the legation staff, including 24-year-old Francis Nagy, Jr., son of the ousted premier, joined Szegedy-Maszk in his decision.

Committee Of Senate Favors Unification

Recommends Passage Of President Truman's Army-Navy Unification Bill

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(INS)—The Senate Armed Services Committee today recommended passage of President Truman's Army-Navy Unification bill.

Twelve of the 13-member committee voted to report out the bill, but three attached reservations to leave them free to seek floor amendments.

Absent was Sen. Edward V. Robertson (R) Wyo., foe of merger and critic of the milder unification measure.

Only minor changes were made in the final action.

Earlier, the committee revised the measure, framed as a compromise between the pro-merger army and the anti-merger navy, by putting in provisions safeguarding the marine corps and naval aviation from being absorbed by other services.

Security Post

It establishes a "national security organization" with an over-all "secretary of national security," who is slated for a cabinet post.

He would coordinate the activities of army and navy and the separate departments for air, which the bill establishes. While formulating policy and exercising general direction over the three branches, the national security secretary is restricted from changing the functions of any existing branch.

The bill calls for:
1. A "national security council," with the president as chairman, and including secretaries of state, national security, army, navy, air forces and the chairman of the national and security resources board.

2. A central intelligence agency, to take over functions of the existing national intelligence authority.

3. A national security resources board, to advise the president about coordination of military, industrial and civilian mobilization.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment, sour, foaming, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Judge Lamoree Addresses Lions

Need For Adequate National Defense To Insure Future Peace Is Cited

McCRACKEN IS NAMED PRESIDENT

Judge John G. Lamoree issued a timely warning that this nation needs a strong national defense to insure adequate protection for the future, in a stirring address to members of the New Castle Lions Club at their noon luncheon meeting Tuesday.

The annual election of officers was conducted at this meeting, with S. Glenn McCracken, local school principal being named president for the coming year. Other officers named were: first vice president, Henry Broad; second vice president, Sam Rashid; third vice president, Harry Helmick; Tail Twister, Dick Davis; Lion Tamer, William McComb; Sky Pilot, Dr. Wilbur Flannery; directors for two years, Dr. A. H. Borland, Dr. Wilbur Flannery, and Earl Ramsey.

Because of the picnic sponsored by the Ladies of the Lions next Tuesday at Lakewood, there will be no noon luncheon meeting of the club, President Lamoree announced.

In his address, Judge Lamoree stated that we have just finished paying national homage to those heroes who have given the full measure of devotion to their country. If we could hear their voices, now silent, they would say "Let there never be another war," Judge Lamoree said.

In the space of a quarter of a century, our country has seen two terrible wars, in both of which, we have been pitifully unprepared at the outset.

Future Planning Urged

In this present age, everything that a nation has built up in a century, can be destroyed in a year's time, so an adequate national defense is needed to protect the greatness this country has achieved.

While Judge Lamoree stated he did not believe that any weapon will be produced that can absolutely destroy civilization, yet some terrible weapons have been discovered, which can place a nation as great as ours in jeopardy.

We do not have all the materials necessary to technological progress, Judge Lamoree pointed out, and we used up so much of our raw materials in the last war, that we dare not repeat such a conflict.

Future planning, he asserted should include an efficient industrial mobilization; an adequate reserve corps of officers; some kind of method of examining all our young men for officers material; unification of the services; but not the destruction of the identity of any of them; continuation of scientific research development; safeguarding against the mistake of disarming our nation and of scrapping our atomic bomb development; and replacement of war equipment so that it is always kept up-to-date.

While universal peace cannot be brought about except through universal brotherhood of man, we should see to it that we do not weaken ourselves until this has been attained, he said in conclusion.

DURABLE FINISHES FOR KITCHEN WALLS

"What kind of a finish do I want on the walls in my kitchen?" That's what homemakers are asking these days. They choose from a number of different materials. Each one having certain pleasing qualities.

Wallpaper is cheap, colorful, and not too difficult for the homemaker to apply but it is not durable. It is attractive when newly hung but soon tends to loosen and pull away from the wall and is likely to crack, especially over direct heat. Wallpaper may be covered with a washable wallpaper or oilcloth over sink and stove or it may be protected with sheets of clear plastic that may be washed. Little attention is called to the plastic covering because the pattern and color of the paper show through.

Oilcloth is a durable and easily cleaned covering for kitchen walls. It should be carefully applied, making sure that it is thoroughly pasted to the wall and the seams joined closely side to side instead of being overlapped.

Painted walls are quite satisfactory and offer a great variety of color schemes. Flat paint, while it gives a soft finish, is likely to absorb grease and is not so easily wiped down as the enamel painted wall. However, it is advisable to avoid too high a gloss; a semi-gloss enamel is better.

Wall linoleum, thinner and more flexible than floor linoleum, gives an attractive wall finish and is easily cleaned. It should be applied by an expert for perfect fitting of seams and rounding of corners. Wall linoleum is put on with a water-resistant adhesive.

Tile is used a great deal in the modern kitchen, especially as a main coating. Its glazed surface makes tile easy to clean.

Report 33 True
Bills To CourtGrand Jury Makes Report
After Considering Large Number Of CasesOTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

Thirty three true bills and two not true bills were returned by the grand jury after consideration of the cases handed up by District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson. In the case of six defendants, indictments were drawn and true bills found in order to stay the statute of limitations. The men in question are outside the jurisdiction of the Lawrence County court, but they can be arrested and tried no matter when they return.

The statute of limitations serves as a barrier to prosecution only when indictments and grand jury action are not had within a certain period of time. In these cases the indictments have been drawn and true bill found. If they return within the next twenty years they can be tried.

True Bills

True bills were found in the following cases. James Pappas, driving while intoxicated. Stutz Davis and William Barkett, burglary. Stutz Davis, George Albert and Samuel Sams, burglary. Charles E. Elias and William Barkett, burglary. Samuel Sams, Charles E. Elias, Angelo Pegnato, alias Julie Pegnato, three indictments for burglary. Samuel Sams and Frank Largo, burglary. Samuel Sams and Leonard D'Antonio, burglary. Lorenzo Scarpitti, driving while intoxicated. Milton Elizabeth Russo, robbery. Milton Harold Pender, morals charge. James Miles, morals charge. James Carothers, driving while intoxicated. Alice Mary Powell, assault and battery. Napoleon Clemens, two indictments for burglary. Charles Watkins, two counts of burglary, unlawfully carrying a revolver.

True bills on indictments drawn to stay the statute of limitations were found in the following cases. Elias Charles, alias Louis Charles, alias Lara Charles, burglary. Clifford Kinney, neglect to support a child. William O. Burkett, also known as W. O. Burkett, forgery. James H. Lieben-dorfer, four indictments for worthless checks and one for forgery. Willie Daniels, felonious assault and battery. George E. Kallas, neglect to support wife and child.

Not True Bills

Not a true bill was found in the following: William Owens, neglect to support a child. Alonzo Monroe, aggravated assault and battery. Trials in court will start Monday, June 9. It is expected that pleas will be entered in a number of cases. The heaviest load in this term are the charges of burglary laid against a group of young men who are charged with cracking the safes of local business men. If they all stand trial it will take some time.

Teaches Children
To Play Piano
In Record Time

CHICAGO, June 4.—(INS)—Lia-teners gave the old correspondence school laugh when Dr. Raymond Burrows, a Columbia university professor, said he could teach grade school pupils to play piano tunes in 40 minutes.

But Dr. Burrows enjoyed the last laugh today. He sat 10 students down to play after the specified period of instruction and the audience's laughter turned to cheers.

The children, playing with both hands, gave forth with four tunes—"Autumn Leaves," "Hot Cross Buns," "Row, Row Your Boat" and "Three Blind Mice." None of the pupils had ever taken piano lessons before.

The demonstration was staged yesterday before the National Association of Music Merchants convention.

DETROIT, June 4.—(INS)—The General Motors Corporation announced the retirement of Charles F. Kettering as vice-president in charge of the company's research activities.

Seventy-year-old "Boss Ket" will continue to serve as director and consultant.

Diplomas Given To Large Class Of Senior High

bedded in the lucite was a piece of glass and a small piece of what appeared to be iron ore. The glass was the obsidian glass created by the heat of the experimental atomic bomb in New Mexico and the ore-like material was what was left of the steel tower upon which the bomb was hung. The pitchblende and uraninite was in its native state and Dr. Stewart then compared the power of man made atomic bombs to the atomic bombs which are forever exploding in the Milky Way and on out in interstellar space. "You young men and women of today are courageous" said he "or you could not look at a world threatened with man made atomic bombs and take it in stride as you do."

Creating the impression of tremendous size and distance he told of the measurements of the galaxy of stars. "Think big and you will be big," said he. Dr. Stewart mixed a portion of humor with his nuclear science and to them added a dash of philosophy. The result was a charming combination that gave the graduates of 1947 one of the most interesting commencement addresses heard in some years in this city.

Eight Veterans

There were eight veterans of the Second World War in the class of 1947. They were, Frank James Calvert, Jr., Samuel Ciccone, Jr., Joseph Anthony Cumo, James Richard Fehrenbach, James Oliver Frost, George Walter Jenkins, Don Michael Kotschisch and Robert Dale Reed. For the battle dress of other days they had exchanged for the grey cap and gown. The music to which they marched in and out of the auditorium was "Entrance and March of Peers" by Sullivan, rather than the measured beat of a military band. The senior high school orchestra and band played the procession and recessional under the direction of Joe P. Replogle.

As the music finished, Class President William Joseph Nickum presented Dr. J. Paul Graham of the U. P. Church who delivered the invocation. Two of the class musicians, Marie Lefer Olson and George Frederick Holliday displayed their unusual talent. Miss Olson singing "La Zingara" by Donizetti, a difficult coloratura number and Mr. Holliday in a piano solo "First Movement of Concerto in A Minor" by Schumann.

Dr. Frank L. Burton, superintendent of schools introduced the speaker of the evening and in his presentation paid tribute to the worth whiteness of the small colleges. Dr. Stewart followed.

Awards Are Made

At the conclusion of the commencement address the following awards were made. To Miss Wilma Geneva Duff, the News award for English, presented by Bert J. Tate, to Chris G. Papazickos, the B'Nai B'rith award for Problems in Democracy, presented by James Meyers. To Harvey Hamilton Bush, the Daughters of the American Revolution award for History, presented by Mrs. Henry E. Golder. To Marie Olson the award for vocal music and George Frederick Holliday the award for instrumental music given by the Music Club and presented by Mrs. Elsa Strehler. To Harvey Hamilton Bush, the Lawrence County Bar Association award for Latin, presented by Attorney Walter A. Kiefer. To James Passias, the Bausch and Lomb Science award presented by William Margraf. To Thomas Newell Weide, the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute award for Mathematics presented by Mrs. Sara Sankey McCune.

Presents Class

Principal Clare B. Book then presented the class for their diploma and the diplomas were presented by Board President Leslie Brindle. It was the last the young men and women did as senior high school students and as they walked across the stage to receive their coveted diploma there must have been just a slight tug at their hearts. The orchestra and band played "Knights-bridge March", the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Graham, and the class of 1947 marched on into history.

The officers for the class of 1947 were President William Joseph Nickum; Vice President Philip Edward Richards; Secretary Maria Jeanne Baatz and Treasurer Albert R. Tate, Jr.

The class supervisor was Miss Lois Kerr of the faculty. The class colors are blue and white.

SEEK SUICIDE KIN

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 4.—(INS)—Charleston police today sought relatives of a man identified only as Cecil S. Carrier, 35, who, the coroner's office reported, shot himself in a Charleston hotel Tuesday night. No former address, nor clues to his background, were found in his belongings, police said.

The name "America" was first applied to Central Brazil in honor of Amerigo Vesputch, who claimed its discovery. The name was first applied to the whole western world by Mercator, the geographer, in 1541.

Another Witness From Pittsburgh In Steel Hearing

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(INS)—Another Pittsburgh witness was called by a Senate sub-committee today as the group delved further into "gray market" steel sales and uncovered additional evidence of "forged orders" repudiated by steel producers.

The committee announced that it would hear testimony by T. A. Duerr of the Troop Water Heater Co., Pittsburgh, and Al Levinson of the Steelcraft Engineering Co., Cincinnati, O.

The small business sub-committee disclosed that the Bethlehem Steel Co. has reported the theft of company letterheads and the subsequent appearance in sales offices of "forged orders" for its products. An investigation of the Bethlehem case was immediately begun.

Holy Land Issue Hangs On Arabs' Vital Decision

UN Ponders Whether Arabs Will Fight If Palestine Issue Against Them

By ROBERT H. PINES
(U. S. S. Special Correspondent)

JERUSALEM, June 4.—Will the Arabs fight if the Palestine issue is decided against them?

More than any other consideration, the sweeping strategic implications of this question dominate the bitterly contested Holy Land problem as the United Nations fact finding commission prepares to open its investigations.

The Arabs' own answer is an emphatic "yes." For years Arab leaders have been warning what might happen to the world if a Jewish state in Palestine were established.

The Jews say "no." The Zionist argument claims that Arab nationalism is merely the device of Arab "Effendis" to distract the attention of exploited Arab peasants, who are too ignorant to care much about politics in the first place.

The British view, based upon the almost unanimous opinion of near east foreign and colonial office experts, is only slightly less emphatic than pronouncements of the Arabs.

For more than 20 years hair-raising reports have poured in from these sources predicting the imminence of an Arab jihad (holy war). These reports have been linked with the action of successive governments in appeasing the Arabs despite Britain's past promises to the Jews.

British Policies

Britain's policies, some circles say, largely result from one of the most curious psychological-political phenomena of modern times—the morbid charm that the near east seems to exert on top-ranking British colonial officials who make their careers there.

There have been numerous instances of top colonial office policy-makers completely "going native." H. St. John Philby, long-time British adviser to Ibn Saud, embraced the Moslem faith. Less extreme cases who do not wear burnouses and smoke narghiles subliminate their Lawrence of Arabia complexes by commiserating with their best friends—all Arabs—about the shameful way Zionism is modernizing the colorful Arab countryside.

Some persons here claim these experts have succeeded even in selling their violent pro-Arab prejudices to an influential clique of the U. S. state department.

It appears fairly certain that some Arabs will fight. The Zionist theory is at best an overstatement as far away as Aden there are young Arabs who fervently swear that if necessary they would travel 1500 miles to "free our Palestine brothers."

Whether or not the sprawling Arab world can bring to bear enough strength to defeat Palestine Jews on their home ground is another matter.

The forests of Czechoslovakia are famous for hunting and are the habitat of the bear, chamois, ibex, wildcat and whole herds of wild boars.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 4.—(INS)—They've just made a momentous decision out at 20th Century-Fox. Thumbs have been turned down on a very beautiful black satin chiffon nightgown, trimmed with chintilly lace, which gorgeous Maureen O'Hara was to have worn for her bridal night scenes in "The Foxes of Harrow."

The experts decided a bride hardly would wear black on her wedding night. Now they are making a blue one for Maureen. This is another example of the deep thought which goes into Hollywood productions. M-G-M executives have told blonde Marilyn Maxwell to let her hair return to its natural brunette shade in anticipation of a picture role. Cameron Mitchell may be her leading man.

Ginger Rogers doesn't expect to be able to make her usual inspection trip of her Oregon ranch this summer. Enterprise hopes to have the final script of "Wild Calendar" ready for her as soon as she completes "It Had To Be You" for Columbia.

Ingrid Bergman will have 40 prominent actors in the cast with her when she makes the picture version of "Joan of Lorraine" for Walter Wanger. Rita Johnson figured she'd hit the jackpot last fall when she was the lone girl among 23 men.

Marshall Thompson, who wrote a play called "Faith", produced by a Little Theatre group, has a letter from an eastern producer, who may buy it. Errol Flynn is thinking about writing another book.

Audrey Totter, who goes to work next week with Robert Taylor in M-G-M's "The High Wall," has been spending her spare time doing over her bedroom in blue.

Richard Hart has been squirming under a woolen Army shirt working with Greer Garson in "A Woman of His Own". He and the missus and their little daughter have been vacationing in Palm Springs—they have sun down there. Old Sol cast his rays on Dick too long and he has a very sun-burned tummy.

What beautiful star, falsely reported by three gossip columnists as pitting with her husband, had to get out of bed at midnight to take a long-distance call from her grandmother in Illinois who wanted to be told it just wasn't so? What handsome star had to climb upon the roof of his domicile to perform a most embarrassing chore? Your reporter wouldn't have believed this himself if he hadn't seen it.

Judy Garland's baby, Liza, looked so cute in her initial screen appearance in "The Pirate," they may write in another scene for the baby.

Says Truman Can't Afford To Veto Tax Cut Measure

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(INS)—Sen. Taft (R) O. declared today that President Truman "can't afford" to veto the GOP tax reduction bill which, he said, will grant a 30 percent cut to 26 million taxpayers. Taft made his assertion as the Senate prepared to complete legislative action on the four billion dollar income tax relief measure.

The GOP policy leader said: "I don't believe the President can afford to veto this bill, because it would put him definitely on the side of high taxes and high expenses. . . . The President ought not to veto this bill unless he regards it as a dangerous threat to the welfare of the country, which it obviously is not."

Taft said that 26 million, 191 thousand taxpayers will get the bill's 30 percent cut; six million, 980 thousand will get reductions of between 20 and 30 percent and 16 million 495 thousands 161 will receive a 20 percent slash. He added: "This most certainly carries out Republican promises of a tax cut."

Since medieval days the four-leaf clover has been a lucky piece. Among its virtues was the power to prevent madness, and the power to bring mutual love to two people who ate a four-leaf clover together.

DiMaggio's Comeback Sparks Yanks Into Fighting Ball Club

'Jolting Joe' Belting Ball Like Old Times

Finds Newhouse For Four Hits Tuesday, Hitting .368

By LOU GARAVENTE
(International News Service Sports Writer)

Joe DiMaggio Yanks
The Yanks tangle with the Tigers in a doubleheader at Detroit this afternoon.

Two weeks ago, a languishing Joe DiMaggio apparently was "through," a caricature of the vaunted Yankee Clipper. He was hitting less than .270, and was smarting under a $100 fine for alleged failure to "cooperate" with the management.

Yesterday, Jolting Joe reached the climax of a long, heartbreaking comeback fight to reach the peak of his former excellence. He belted Hal Newhouse for four straight hits to zoom his batting average to a league leading .368. A glance at recent records reveals some phenomenal statistics. Since May 18, Joe has hit safely in 16 consecutive games; he has eight hits in the last ten tries; and 33 safeties in 67 at-bats.

In addition to the Tiger defeat, the Indians and the Red Sox lost. The Browns only bagged five hits in beating the champion Red Sox and Tex Hughson, 4 to 3.

The Indians lost their game in the ninth, when Gerry Priddy belted a homer to insure a 6-to-5 victory for the Washington Senators.

In the other game in the Junior League, the Chicago White Sox topped the Philadelphia Athletics 2 to 0 behind the three-hit pitching of Frank Pappish.

The National League race gave little indication of clearing up. The Giants defeated the Cubs 8 to 3 on homers by Willard Marshall, Walker Cooper and Sid Gordon, to take over undisputed lead of first place.

Brooklyn took two games from the Pirates in a slugfest doubleheader, 11 to 6 and 8 to 7. Rex Barney started the first game and relieved in the second to get credit for both Dodger victories.

Cards Upset Braves
The St. Louis Cardinals, displaying the form which brought them the 1946 flag, handed Boston Brave ace, Warren Spahn his first defeat in nine starts. Stan Musial banged out his fifth homer of the year in the fifth inning to feature the 3-to-0 victory pitched by George Mauer.

St. Louis didn't climb out of the National League cellar because the surprising Philadelphia Phillies downed the Cincinnati Reds 4 to 1.

City League Beats Jupe' Pluvius Again

WEST PITTSBURGH DEFEATS SLOVAKS

West Pittsburgh's "Gas House Gang" remained very much in the running for the flag last night by thumping the Slovaks at Clifton Flats field 17 to 2 with Mike Markey turning in a swell three-hit pitching effort while his mates clubbed three Slovak hurlers for 17 hits.

Three home runs featured the battle, Amie Markey with the bases loaded in the big third inning and Andy Semansky hit for the circuit, also getting a double and two singles. Majeski homered for the Slovaks. Markey fanned seven batters and walked but one. The "Gas House" score 14 runs in the big third inning on a barrage of hits. The game was halted by darkness at the end of the fifth frame.

Orelli allowed six hits and fanned two. The losing pitcher was Rinker. Heavy hitting in the well played game was done by DeVitto, Cipriano, J. McCullough, and S. Bullano.

Doyle-Robinson To Box June 24

Second Postponement Granted To Allow Robinson Time To Make Weight

CLEVELAND, June 4.—(INS)—Promoter Bob Brickman reported today that the Cleveland welterweight championship bout between Ray Robinson and Jimmy Doyle has been postponed until June 24.

Original scheduled for Memorial day, May 30, the title fight was set back to June 17 because of eye injuries Robinson suffered in a scrap with Georgie Abrams in New York.

"This second postponement was arranged because Robinson was having difficulty getting down to the weight limit of 147 pounds," Brickman stated.

"He doesn't want to lose his title by coming in over weight," he added.

Legion Juniors To Play Ellwood In Preliminary

Two Strong Junior Teams Will Help Johnson Bronze Pry Off Lid In Opener Here

Chairman A. Wesley Mann, of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion Junior Baseball committee announced today, that Business Manager Al J. Genkinger, Jr., has secured the strong Ellwood City American Legion Junior team to oppose the local Legion Junior team for the preliminary game Saturday evening, dedicating Flaherty Field.

The Ellwood City post boasts a strong junior outfit, which won second honors in the Tri-State tournament held at East Palestine last summer. The Gaston Post Junior outfit promises to be a strong one this year, several good practice sessions having been held, enabling Coaches Stan Witherspoon and Sam Ross to get a good line on their players.

Chairman Mann today announced that Al J. Genkinger, Jr., of 220 Fairmont avenue has been named as business manager of the Legion team and will have charge of booking all games for the post's Junior outfit.

Fence About Completed
Workmen are busily engaged at the moment in putting up the corrugated iron fence and getting the gateways in. The lights are all in and focused ready for the opening.

Another crew of workmen are busily engaged in sowing grass on the outfield expanse. The infield has been sodded and presents a very lovely appearance.

The park when completed will seat about 4,000 fans, and will be roomy.

Ralph H. Gardner, business manager for the Johnson Bronze Employees association, and director of the ball park, is busy lining up all the necessary details of the opening game, reserved seats, ticket sellers, ticket takers, and other matters too numerous to mention that go to directing a ball park.

There are a thousand and one details that must be taken care of, and Gardner puts in long hours.

Manager Mike Diffley is taking his players to the Scotland Lane field for a workout this evening. They will also have a Friday session.

Philadelphia Seeks Olympics In 1952

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—(INS)—Philadelphia began laying the groundwork today for a campaign to become the site for the 1952 Olympics.

Arthur W. Binns, president of the city's convention and visitors bureau, said a committee will discuss the prospects in New York today with Avery Brundage, president of the U. S. Olympic Association and the American representative on the event's international governing body.

"We have unmatched facilities in our great municipal stadium, Franklin field, Convention hall, our Fairmount park, and our great body of patriotic citizens," he stated. "We are going to make a determined effort to bring this great classic here in 1952."

Two Penn State players, Art Tenhula of Bessemer and Ken Kerwin of Sunbury, have been named to the 1947 all-Pennsylvania collegiate lacrosse team. Bill Hollenbach of Allentown and George Locotos of Pittsburgh won second team berths. Tenhula and Hollenbach also are all-North choices.

It might be of more than passing interest to note that Billy Southworth, once removed as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, still thinks the Cards are the team to beat in the National League pennant race.

STATE IS LEADER IN ROAD OUTLAY

Commonwealth Tops Nation In Monetary Value Of Contracts
For Highways

HARRISBURG, June 4.—Pennsylvania's Department of Highways stood in first place in the monetary value of contracts awarded last year for highway construction.

Figures compiled by the Federal Works Agency Public Roads Administration show that the Pennsylvania Department in 1946 awarded contracts involving the expenditure of $57,669,000. California was second with $54,797,000 and Texas was in third place at $52,647,000.

The amount of new road and bridge construction put under contract in 1946 by the Pennsylvania Department was higher than the combined outlay for New York and New Jersey. According to the Public Roads Administration last year new contract work in New York amounted to $42,534,000 and New Jersey, $12,971,000.

The six New England states of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island had a combined total of $42,534,000 in new contract work. Pennsylvania's 1946 contract work was also greater than the combined totals for Ohio and Michigan.

In Pennsylvania the Department awarded contracts aggregating $31,346,000, of which sum $12,726,000 were Federal funds and the balance contributed by the State.

New York used $24,544,000 to finance projects on its own. Its Federal aid program amounted to $17,490,000, approximately 50 percent of which came from the Federal allocation.

Army Offers High School Graduates More Education

Qualified Young Men Can Receive Valuable Technical Training
In United States Army

Not all high school graduates can afford to go to college, but additional education, plus technical training, is available to qualified young men in the United States Army, M-Sgt. Charles P. Walsh, recruiting sergeant, declared here today.

"In these days of international responsibilities," he said, "it is more important than ever before that every young man obtain the best education possible. Though many cannot go to college, they can, in the Army, get real career training. The Army can give an able high school graduate training that will be useful not only in the Army but also in civil life. Higher education subjects are taught in classes and through correspondence courses, and training is provided in the many lines of scientific and industrial endeavor in which the Army works."

Army technical schools use new training techniques developed during the war which teach students faster, particularly in the engineering, mechanical and electronics lines.

M-Sgt. Walsh said that a special effort is being made in this area now to put the facts about the advantages of Army service before high school graduates.

COUNSEL TAKING $20,000 GAMBLE

Counsel For Beulah Overell Will Receive Large Sum In Event
Of Acquittal

SANTA ANA, Calif., June 4.—(INS)—Counsel for Beulah Overell was disclosed today to be taking a $20,000 gamble on her acquittal. Superior Judge Harold B. Jeffrey has approved a contract between Fred A. Jungquist, Beulah's uncle, and Attorney Otto A. Jacobs providing that Jacobs and his partner, M. Burr Wellington, will be paid $25,000, plus $4500 for expenses, out of her parents' $600,000 estate.

If Miss Overell is convicted, however, she will be ineligible under the law to inherit the estate and Jacobs will receive only what has already been paid him, a total of $9,500.

It was also learned the Farmers and Merchants bank, trustee for the estate, has asked the Los Angeles probate court to rule that the parents, Walter E. and Beulah Overell, died simultaneously.

Must Adjudicate Deaths
Attorney Winthrop M. Crane, who filed the petition for the bank, asserted he can not pay bills and dispose of property in the Overell estate until the times of the Overells' death are adjudicated. Crane explained that under their wills the Overells are heirs of each other.

The wills make Miss Overell sole heir of her parents but in event of her death or disqualification by the murder conviction, the fortune would go to other relatives. The time of the Overells' death was regarded as a key point in the pending trial. The state will charge Miss Overell and her sweetheart, George (Bud) Gollum, beat Mrs. Overell to death, then fatally beat Beulah's father.

The bank's petition thus created a strange legal situation. If the probate rules the couple died simultaneously, it will deny the basis of the state's case against Beulah and Gollum.

In effect the probate court would be ruling that the couple were not killed separately but died in the dynamite blast. Since the probate court and the Orange county court trying the case are of equal stature, the legal snarl created by such a ruling would seem insoluble. Meanwhile, the seemingly endless task of selecting a jury to try the case continued.

VERY MUCH ALIVE
ROCHESTER, Pa., June 4.—(INS)—Just to keep the record straight, Melvin Bennet, 19-year-old carnival aerialist, wants it known he's not dead. The youthful Masury, O., aerial actor fell 40 feet last Saturday while performing with his troupe in Rochester. He was badly shaken and bruised, and suffered a back injury. "That wasn't too bad," said Melvin, "but somebody had to go and put it in the papers that I was dead as a result of the fall." He said he wants his carnival friends to know he's very much alive, even though not yet back at work.

HUNT MISSING MAN
WARREN, Pa., June 4.—(INS)—Search continued by air today for Dr. Robert T. Wheeler of Chicago, missing since May 25, on a flight from Rochester, N. Y., to his home. The search centered in the Warren vicinity following reports of residents they had heard a plane flying low the morning of the day Dr. Wheeler disappeared. He was flying his own private plane at the time. Try The News Want Ads For Results
